To Whom It May Concern,

Re: Support for REACH Edmonton's Application to United Way Social Sector Development Grants

On behalf of Horn Youth Services Foundation (KULAN), I am writing to extend our support for REACH Edmonton's application for the United Way's Social Sector Development grant. As a grassroots organization deeply embedded in the Somaliland community, KULAN has been a committed participant in the Out of School Time (OST) Collaborative from our inception.

Our mission to develop and empower the Somaliland immigrant and youth in Edmonton aligns seamlessly with the objectives of the OST Collaborative. Through our partnership and collaborative efforts, we have been able to provide essential services and programs that support elders, families, youth, and children, utilizing culturally sensitive approaches.

KULAN is dedicated to creating opportunities for youth employment, workshops, training, including resume and cover letter writing, mentorship programs, and resources for labor market integration. Our focus is not only on overcoming barriers to accessing the job market but also on fostering youth leadership within our community. We believe in the power of positive role models and safe spaces where youth can connect, learn, and grow, and have fostered these connections with youth and younger children through our tutoring programs.

The success of REACH Edmonton's proposal is vital for organizations like ours to continue making a meaningful impact. It will support us in enhancing the capacity of our programs and extend our reach within the community, ultimately contributing to a more inclusive and empowered society.

We are excited about the opportunity to enhance and expand our programs through the support of this proposal, continuing to make a significant difference in the lives of the people in our community.

Sincerely,

Khadar Jama
